

WHITE MARLIN DIAGRAM

White Marlin are easy to recognize. Here's what to look out for:

- A rounded dorsal fin which often exceeds their body depth.
- A lighter, occasionally green coloring
- Spots on their belly, as well as their dorsal and anal fins.

BLUE MARLIN DIAGRAM

The telltale signs of a Blue Marlin are as follows:

- A pointed front dorsal fin that is never as high as the maximum body depth (read, the hairdo is never longer than the fish is fat).
- Pectoral (side) fins aren't rigid, but can be folded back against the body.
- A cobalt blue back that fades to white. It may have pale blue stripes that always fade after death.
- The overall body shape is cylindrical.
